

July 2006 - Drainology approved as a member of the National Building Register

Drainology has earned approved status as a 'green' compliant contractor with The National Building Register. The standards that a company must show, in order to comply with the qualification criteria, include Financial Criteria, Licences, Permits, Insurances and Quality Assurance.

The National Building Register accreditation is recognised throughout the entire construction industry and is therefore an important one for any firm in this industry to have.