

November 2009

Construction Site Supervisor's Safety Certificate (SSSTS)

To further Drainology's Health and Safety at Work credentials, we are pleased to announce that two of our employees, Peter Dennis and Nigel Gillies, have successfully completed 'The Site Supervisor's Safety Training Scheme for the Construction and Civil Engineering Industries' (SSSTS).

This two-day intensive course covers all areas of health and safety on site, meaning both Peter and Nigel have the correct knowledge to ensure all the work carried out by our staff adheres strictly to health and safety policies.

Drainology's two directors, Dave West and Keith Simson were both awarded the 'Construction Site Manager's Safety Certificate' (SMSTS) in 2008.

These awards, together with our CSCS and CHAS accreditations, demonstrates Drainology's continued dedication to Health and Safety in the Workplace, making sure the work we carry out is safe for both our staff and customers alike.

